

Cookies Policy Template

This statement only intends to suggest some points to include in your Cookies Policy. It is recommended to seek legal advice to ensure compliance with data protection legislation. As soon as you complete editing the document make sure you remove the text in the square brackets.

By using our website and agreeing to this policy, you consent to our use of cookies in accordance with the terms of this policy.

I. About cookies

A cookie is a small text file that a website saves on your computer or mobile device (smartphone or tablet) when you visit the site. It allows the website to remember your actions and preferences (such as login, language, font size and other display preferences) over a period of time, so you don't have to keep re-entering them whenever you come back to the site or browse from one page to another.

II. Our cookies

[Here you need to list the cookies that your website makes use of, providing a brief explanation about each, such as:

- their purpose and the reason why they are being used, (e.g. to remember users' actions, to identify the user, for online behavioural advertising)*
- if they are essential for the website or a given functionality to work or if they aim to enhance the performance of the website*
- the types of cookies used (e.g. session or permanent, first or third-party)*
- who controls/accesses the cookie-related information (website or third party)*
- that the cookie will not be used for any purpose other than the one stated*
- how consent can be withdrawn.]*

III. The cookie-related information is not used to identify you personally. These cookies are not used for any purpose other than those described here.

IV. Most browsers allow you to refuse to accept cookies or to delete cookies already stored on your computer – for more information on how to do this, see AllAboutCookies.org. If you delete all cookies that are already on your computer and/or you set your browser to prevent them from being placed, you may need to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit a site and some services and functionalities may not work.

V. You can easily accept or reject the cookies on this site by choosing one of the following links: I accept cookies / I refuse cookies.